SOUTH SIDE FIRE BUG

Again Gets in His Work, This Time With Much Success.

ALFRED DIMMICK'S LARGE STABLE

On the South Side Was Picked Out for Destruction by the Incendiary. Two Horses and a Mule Burned to Death—The Loss Foots Up $3,000. No Clue to the Perpetrator of the Deed.

Last evening at 6:30 o'clock an alarm was sent in to the fire department from box 53, Market and Twenty-seventh streets, calling the department to a bad blaze in the large frame stable owned by Alfred Dimmick, the rag man, near Main and Twenty-seventh streets, and adjoining the Baltimore & Ohio yards. The blaze, evidently of incendiary origin, was first seen by a woman who lives in one of the houses in the "brick row" near by. Niagara was the first engine on the scene, followed shortly by the others. At that time the fire, which originated on the second floor among the piles of hay and straw, in the east end, had reached its fiercest stage. It made a grand sight, the flames reaching a hundred feet in the air, and were easily distinguished all over the city. Up town it was thought that one of the big industrial establishments was burning. Several streams of water were soon on the burning building, and in a short time it was under control, but not until the building was entirely ruined, as well as all the contents. Two horses and a mule burned to death, the fire being discovered too late for a successful effort to save the animals. Their efforts to break loose and escape were heard by the spectators, and were heart-rending. One of the horses was Mr. Dimmick's driving mare, a very valuable animal, to which he and his family were much attached.

The total loss will foot up close to $3,000, of which about $1,000 represents the building and the balance the contents, including a buggy, three wagons, five sets of harness, large quantities of hay and feed and a big lot of scrap iron. The insurance amounts to $1,500, $1,000 on the building and $500 on contents.

Mr. Dimmick said last night that the fire was undoubtedly of incendiary origin. There had been none of his employees in the building since 4 o'clock, and had any of them dropped a match or anything of the kind a fire would have developed before 6:30 o'clock. The police have no clue as to the perpetrator of this outrage, but it is undoubtedly the work of the same fire bug who recently fired other South Side stables.

RESTORED, BUT REDUCED.

Mr. Long Given a Chance to Defend his Pension.

The INTELLIGENCER has already given an account of the suspension from the pension lists of David A. Long, of North Wheeling, who served in Co. H, 1st W. Va. Vol. Inf. A copy of the paper in which this was printed was sent to Congressman Pendleton, with a letter, and he called the attention of the pension officials to the case, with the result that he received the following answer:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
BUREAU OF PENSIONS,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 30, 1893.

Hon. J. O. Pendleton, House of Representatives:
Sir:—In reply to the inquiry relative to the above claim, I have to state that the pension agent has been instructed to remove the suspension and continue payment of the pension.

It has been decided, after careful consideration of the evidence on file with the claim, the pension should be reduced to $6 per month. The pensioner will be given proper notice and an opportunity to furnish evidence that he is entitled to his present pension of $8 per month. Very respectfully,
D. I. MURPHY,
First deputy commissioner.

This adds a remarkable feature to a very remarkable case. After being suspended without notice Mr. Long is restored at a reduction, and "will be given a chance" to show that he is still entitled to $8.

MOCK LEGISLATURE.

The Meeting This Evening Likely to be a Brilliant One.

This evening at the quarters of the Ohio County Republican Club, in the Odd Fellows' block, on Chapline street the Republican mock legislature will hold its third session for discussion on the merits and demerits of the Wilson tariff bill. At the last meeting the discussion was being carried on with skill and ability by Messrs. Dovenor and Atkinson, and the end of that session found these two giants of debate and repartee still engaged in the very interesting and instructive occupation of heaving hot shot at each other. At the meeting this evening the two gentlemen will no doubt resume their wordy conflict. Others hardly less brilliant and no less logical will also occupy the floor this evening. Ladies are especially invited to attend the session of the legislature this evening. Ample seating accommodations have been provided.

THE CONSTABLES FINED.

They Claim to Have Been on Business, but Pay up.

The feature of the police court yesterday was the presence of Constables Charles Cowan and Harry Arkle and a man named Gardner, who were fined $5 and costs each for loitering in a house of ill-fame. Cowan claimed that he was there to make an arrest, and had deputized the other two men to help him, but this did not go. Cowan and Arkle paid and Gardner went to the bill in default. The two landladies were fined the usual $20 and costs each, and the women and men $5 and costs each. One man besides Gardner went to the bill and one woman to jail. A plain drunk was let go, and this composed the unusually remunerative docket.

MAY NOT COME OFF.

Trouble About Securing the Opera House For the Billiard Game.

Last evening it became known that it is possible the champion match game of billiards between the two great masters of the cue, Ives and Schaeffer, may not take place, as was reported exclusively in yesterday's INTELLIGENCER. Mr. E. M. Statler yesterday saw Manager Rieister, of the Opera House, regarding the use of it as a place to have the games come off. The manager showed no objections to such a contest taking place in his place of amusement, but when Mr. Statler said that it would be necessary for the first three rows of seats to be temporarily removed so that space could be made for the table in a position where the game could be watched satisfactorily from every portion of the house, he declined to allow the seats to be disturbed. Mr. Statler offered to guarantee that the seats would be replaced at once after the contest, and that no damage would result to either chairs or anything else. Still Mr. Rieister refused, and, as a consequence, the admirers of the game are mourning because they will not be able to see Ives and Schaeffer in a match game in Wheeling.

The Opera House is the only available place where the game could take place, and be viewed by a large audience. The Grand is out of the question, because the seats there are on a level. The prospects for a game are very slim unless the Opera House management changes its mind. Should the game take place, it is possible that it will be for 800 or 1,000 points, half to be played in the afternoon and the other half the same evening.

Last evening at Seibert's Garden the Columbia and Wheeling Athletic Wheelmen teams of the Bowling League met, and as a result Columbia's stars and stripes wave at the head of the procession alongside the Wheeling Bowling Club, while the colors of the wheelmen trail in the dust of six other teams of the league. They have one consolation, however; they are ahead of the Press Club.

The first game was the better of the two; the Columbia bowlers all made fine scores, and defeated their opponents by a majority of over 200 pins. James Day made the best score, 367; Williamson did the best work for the wheelmen, 225. The score:

WHEELING LODGE No. 23 A. O. U. W. will be organized in Odd Fellows Hall Friday evening, January 5.

"Will he take algebra?" asked the principal of a private school to a mother who wished to enter her son. "No, indeed," was the reply. "He's perfectly honest. He'll take nothing that doesn't belong to him."—Washington Star.

Doesn't "look" as she ought—the weak, nervous and ailing woman. As long as she suffers from the aches, pains, and derangements peculiar to her sex, she can't expect to.

But there's only herself to blame. With Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, she's a different woman. And it's a change that can be seen as well as felt. The system is invigorated, the blood enriched, digestion improved, melancholy and nervousness dispelled.

With the "Favorite Prescription" all the proper functions are restored to healthy action. Periodical pains, weak back, bearing-down sensations, nervous prostration, all "female complaints" are cured by it. It's the only medicine for woman's weaknesses and ailments that's guaranteed to do what is claimed for it. If it doesn't give satisfaction, in every case for which it's recommended, the money is returned.

Can something else offered by the dealer, though it may pay him better, be "just as good"?
